Happy to help here!

EAP Colleagues – Mr. [REDACTED] book about China's global environmental impacts was cleared by the Department on June 27, 2012. Since then, Mr. [REDACTED] have received prior clearances from EAP, Land and PA (in 2013 and 2014) to talk with media about the book in his personal capacity, which he wrote prior to joining the Department of State. As a reminder from L, if Mr. [REDACTED] is to be identified as being affiliated with the USG, he must use a standard disclaimer in his discussions.

We understand that Mr. [REDACTED] was experiencing some trouble with submitting an interview request through the PA Clearances database. Typically submissions from posts would reach regional bureau press offices first; once they approve, it reaches PA. We have updated Mr. [REDACTED] account with the Database to reflect his current location within WHA and kindly request that he submit future interview requests through the Database. We are copying WHA-Press here for their awareness; future requests can be submitted either way - through WHA-Press or directly to PA Clearance database. EAP will have input either way before it reaches PA for final clearance.

Please let us know if there are any questions.

Thank you,
PA Clearances

Thanks Val and all!

Madison, to answer your questions:

- 1) [REDACTED] Yezhouzhoukan (亞洲週刊) Magazine. My understanding is that it is published weekly only in Chinese and that it is distributed in Hong Kong, Taiwan, Singapore and Malaysia.
- 2) [REDACTED] New Century Press published the Chinese language edition of my book in April and this interview is related to the publication. They will ask questions about the book and its relevance to Asia. I expect the contents of the interview to be similar to other interviews I have done related to the book. I've done a number of interviews about the book now and will stay within the range of answers I have given in the past. The journalist told me the article will be short if that is helpful.

Please let me know if you need anything else from me or have questions.

Best regards;

Hi Donny, Shelly, and Valerie:

I'm an FSO based in Havana and was unable to use the PA Clearances system today to send a request to be interviewed about a book I wrote before joining the State Dept.

Donny and Shelly: I was a PolOff in Chengdu from 2012 to 2014 and am now a Consular Officer in Havana. I wrote a book before joining the State Dept and it was published in 2013. A Chinese-language edition was recently published in Hong Kong and my request is to be interviewed for a short article in a Hong Kong magazine. I didn't see any way to determine who of the PAOs in DC covers WHA from my home computer and selected you both because, well, you were last on the list. Please forward this to whomever is appropriate or let me know who I should contact. Valerie and Dana Smith know the back story on my book and clearances. This is my first application for an interview after moving into WHA. (Hi Valerie, sorry to put you on this email, but hoping it might make the process a bit faster; hope you're well!)

The PA Clearances system gave me the message at the bottom here, when I tried to send my request today.

I'm attaching a screen shot of my application. Please let me know if I need to try to resend the request through the system. Perhaps it will work from my office but the error might also be because the bandwidth out of Cuba is very slow. I'm hoping to receive clearance this coming week.

I look forward to hearing from someone.

Thanks, [redacted]

All,

As per the July 16th request to clear an article for publication that I sent last week. The author, Mr. [redacted] works as a third party-contracted American prosecutor at EULEX. His article had to receive clearance from both US Embassy/INL and EULEX. Attached is the latest (final) version with a couple of late minor edits from EULEX. Also, could someone at PA Clearance please acknowledge receipt of this request? Thank you.

Hi Matt,

Have just now received the EULEX response. The changes are really cosmetic to me; if these are acceptable to you, may I request your approval of the suggested revisions by EULEX folks? also, may I request that you send the suggestions onwards to the PA Clearances, and whoever else is in the CoC for this to get moved forward?

sorry this has become a bit of a bother, but appreciate whatever support you can offer.

Kind regards,

I ran your article with OHOM and we're fine in principle. In line with previous practice, before granting the final approval, we would like to suggest you three minor comments. In particular, we have been struggling really hard to move away from the 'big fish' narrative. We would be grateful if you could consider inserting our suggested changes – if so, let me know asap and we'll proceed formally with the authorization.

Hi Matthew,

Thanks for the phone conversation of earlier today; my apologies for not being in contact sooner--I missed your call initially, and didn't realize there was an Embassy call until later, and meantime, I got busy in trial, and had a series of urgent filings to tend to. Anyhow, I think I am now clear on what is needed, having read the below, and given our short conversation. Here are my answers to the questions:

QUESTIONS TO FOR AUTHORS WHO WISH TO HAVE ARTICLES/MANUSCRIPTS PUBLISHED

- What is the author's first and last name, current job title and office symbol?

name: [REDACTED]

title: EULEX / Special Prosecutor in the Special Prosecutions Office of the Republic of Kosovo (SPRK);

office symbol: this is a national symbol/crest used under Kosovo law; note: I have not identified myself as writing on behalf of any official authority nor used any symbol of any office; employment arrangement: I am employed directly through contract with Civilian Police International (CPI), in the mentioned position; I am on Secondment through the U.S. Government; and I am placed within the EULEX Rule of Law Mission in the mentioned position in SPRK. I have not mentioned CPI, the U.S. Government, or EULEX in writing this article.

- Is the author writing in his/her private capacity or official capacity?

I am writing in private capacity; however, I have written to Mr. Jones of INL Kosovo, and also to CPI President and representatives, as well as EULEX for their inputs and approval. Having been in international missions for a number of years, I would not want to bring the U.S. Government, EULEX, or CPI into disrepute or cause any awkwardness or breach protocol in any way, shape or form.

- Will the author receive remuneration outside of his/her Department of State salary for the article?

No, there will not be any remuneration (of any kind) outside of my employment salary through CPI. The article is written for the purpose of sharing with fellow practitioners a beginning success story on the RoL development front, and to educate others.

- Does the author intend to use a disclaimer? If so, how will the disclaimer read?

No intention to insert a disclaimer. The article is intended to be sent as written; however, if someone determines that a disclaimer is warranted or appropriate (like, e.g., "The author has written this piece on his own behalf and is not speaking for any other authority or office (or something else)--I'm more than happy to do so.

- Where does the author intend to submit the article/manuscript for publication?

online on the Alliance for Peace website.

- Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year?

The article does somewhat relate to current duties, as a part of those duties include trying to develop capacities of national justice system actors of the Republic of Kosovo. A fuller description of my duties presently includes, inter alia: investigating and prosecuting cases of corruption, assisting national justice system actors in developing capacities to investigate and prosecute criminal matters, providing substantive and technical advice, trying to develop trust among national actors/institutions, trying to develop court room and legal practice, and more.

Additionally, and with regard to other concerns enumerated below in your email, I have the following answers to share, though I realize others will have to review and/or assess on their own:

PA is charged with reviewing documents on subjects of official concern written by State Department employees in their private capacities. In doing so, we may consult with relevant bureaus.

Under 3 FAM 4170, there are three circumstances in which an employee's personal capacity public communication may be prohibited:

1. If it contains classified information; There is no classified information contained in the article; matters discussed (e.g., plea bargaining, contents of plea bargains) are publicly known, and have been disclosed in open court on the record;
2. If it contains information not releasable under FOIA (e.g., protected employee information, law enforcement information, etc.); No such information is contained in the article;
3. If it is "highly likely to result in serious adverse consequences to the efficiency or mission of the Department." I certainly would hope that this article would not result in any high (or low) likelihood of serious (or even slight) adverse consequences to the efficiency (or effectiveness) or Mission of the Department. The article is written to help educate, share experiences of things that can work for developing countries.

Per your instructions, I have included the proposed final draft; also, and for whatever it might be worth, I am attaching my CV, so that everyone can know a bit more about my background.

I greatly appreciate your forwarding the article to PA Clearances, and all other necessary parties; if I can provide further assistance, please do not hesitate to ask.

Thank you for your time and consideration. Wishing you a nice rest of the week and weekend.

Kind regards,

Subject: Article for pre-publication clearance

RELEASE IN PART
B6

B6

Dear Sir or Madame:

Attached you will find an article I have penned for ALETEIA.COM, a website that produces news and comment from a Catholic perspective. They have reviewed the article and this is the text agreed with them. I have informed them that it may not be published without clearance from State. I have also told them that if cleared for publication, it must contain the statement that this is a purely personal article (at end of text attached).

The article comments on the prospects for the proximate return of Christians to areas under ISIS control once ISIS is driven out of those areas, and how long that might take.

I am on detail to the Inter-American Defense College, Ft. McNair, D.C. where I teach courses in two subject areas: CIV-Mil relations; Religion-State relations (with an emphasis on Religion-based conflicts' impact on nation state structures).

I ask that you review the article and advise me whether I can permit ALETEIA.COM to publish it as written, with changes, or not at all.

Thank you,

Regards,

Dear Reviewers,

Thank you very much for your help with this involved clearance process. I am glad to hear that the document that will be provided to Pacific Forum CSIS has been reviewed by the appropriate offices here at the State Department. I will take your recommendation on the author statement, and look forward to using this in the final document.

Dear Reviewers:

Thank you very much for the response on this. I think that the Pacific Forum CSIS will appreciate the chance to include the full set of authors on this document, as they finalize the project.

One last question for you on this. If I am the only author referenced with an affiliation, I wonder if it draws too much attention to the U.S. Department of State (that is, readers might wonder, why is the Department of State the only organization noted in the caveat statement, where do the other authors work, why is this not something that must be noted about the organizations where they are employed; etc.?) Would the following option work well for you, instead?

1. Listing each author by name, with a statement that: The views of the authors are their own; and do not necessarily represent the views of the organizations where they are employed. ←Please note that this is what DOS colleagues in Legal had recommended; I would also prefer this; it is specific, but a bit more low key. The focus remains that this was a group project with Pacific Forum; rather than a particular coordination among the organization where each participant was employed.

I would definitely prefer this option. Would it be acceptable to you?

Your comments are also useful, particularly on USAID's role, which may have been featured more prominently in earlier drafts; I will raise these issues with the organizers and with the co-authors to find out if there is an opportunity to revise the document further and address the points you raise. Comments of the OFDA Philippines regional advisor and East Asia Pacific Team also noted; if any further follow recommendations are forthcoming, please do let me know. I defer to their expertise and do not doubt that this post-conference project—from a set of authors new to this topic—is not at the level of nuanced analysis from well-established experts. Again, if there are any more specific comments for the discussion of Haiyan response, I can see if the project organizers might be interested in extending the project to update this section.

Thank you again for your help on this.

Best regards,

Dear Ms. [redacted]

The Department has completed the review of your request pursuant to 3 FAM 4170 and determined that you may proceed, provided that you include the disclaimer required for personal capacity public communications (see 3 FAM 4172.1-4), that the views expressed in this article are those of the author and do not necessarily represent the views of the U.S. Department of State or the U.S. Government.

We are also sharing the comments below from USAID for your information only:

Our OFDA Philippines regional advisor and East Asia and Pacific Team took a look at the report and had these brief comments;

- Intent of the document isn't very clear
- No glaring omissions but this is a very cursory look at disaster risk mitigation in the Philippines and in their opinion, it doesn't provide an adequate review of the Haiyan response.

Our thoughts in Washington, the report goes into UN and some NGO disaster response efforts (Japanese "Peace Boat") but doesn't mention USAID's $90 million dollar response. Perhaps this is intentional? In any case, if researchers want to know more about our response efforts, info can be found

PA Clearances,

Thank you very much. I look forward to working with you on this, and appreciate your fast response. Do you think this review will take the full 30 days, or will it be faster? Knowing this would be helpful, as Pacific Forum CSIS would like to finalize the report as soon as possible

Here are my answers to your questions.

- What is the author's first and last name, current job title and office symbol?
 1. [REDACTED] Program Manager, CT/SPP
- Is the author writing in his/her private capacity or official capacity?
 1. Writing in a private capacity (not in an official capacity)
- Will the author receive remuneration outside of his/her Department of State salary for the article? Note L/Ethics will need to clear if you will receive remuneration.
 1. No;
 2. FYI only: The Pacific Forum CSIS funded my travel to this event, because I had noted in the application form that I required support to attend the conference. I do not think this amounts to compensation.
- Does the author intend to use a disclaimer? If so, how will the disclaimer read?
 1. I defer to you; please let me know
 2. One idea: "The views expressed by the authors of this paper do not necessarily represent the views of the organizations where they are employed."
 3. Note: Currently, none of the authors list their place of employment; I think this is simplest; let me know if you need a change. Do I need to note that I work for the U.S. Department of State as a Federal Contractor—presumably along with the names of the other authors in the UK, US, and the Philippines?
- Who else has cleared (your supervisor, others within the Department of State)?
 1. No one
 2. Supervisor indicated that he did not need to clear; simply suggested that I run this by L; their office in turn referred this to you.
- Where does the author intend to submit the article/manuscript for publication?
 1. Not applicable: Pacific Forum CSIS does not intend to publish the article, but rather plans to finalize it for its own program records, and distribute it to Deloitte, which may have co-sponsored the conference. I only submitted this in order to be entirely meticulous, for example, in case there is any need to document the fact that it is being shared with Deloitte (but not published) or in case the Pacific Forum chooses to feature the paper on their website in some way in the future (they have expressed no intention of doing this so far).

- Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year?
 1. No.
 2. FYI: there could possibly be some relation between (1) CT response, one of the issues I presently work on, and (2) disaster response and recovery in the Philippines, the topic of the paper. I do not think this amounts to considerable overlap. Please see also a more extended discussion of this in my earlier email.

Please do let me know how I should proceed. While I am waiting for the approval, my name will remain off the document. But other things being equal, I would prefer to have my name on the paper, with some kind of disclaimer. Please do let me know if I should be noting that I work for the U.S. Department of State as a Federal Contractor.

Thank you again for your help!

Best regards,

Ms.

Thank you for the clarification and we appreciate receiving your email. The established process calls for up to a 30 day review period for articles written in a private capacity for publication (see section cited below).

FAM 4174.3 Writing on Matters of Official Concern in a Private Capacity (CT: PER-584; 11-03-2005) (Uniform State/USAID) (Applies to all Employees in the United States and Abroad) All books, articles, and other manuscripts or materials on matters of official concern prepared for publication by an employee in a private capacity shall be submitted for review in accordance with procedures in 3 FAM 4172.1. To avoid possible embarrassment, employees should not make commitments to publishers before the thirty-day review period has ended.

We would suggest that your name be removed from the paper until you have received an official approval from the Bureau of Public Affairs. Will the publication refer to your affiliation with the Department? Please provide the answers to the publication questionnaire form below. We will begin the review of your paper, as well as other relevant equities, as soon as this information is received.

Subject: FW: Request for Document Review

Dear Reviewers,

I have a question, and would welcome your response as soon as possible. Essentially, I need to know how I should proceed from here. Per the attached email message, my request for document review was denied. The reason given on the form was that the document "was already submitted for publication."

However, the document was never actually submitted for publication in any way—and let me provide an explanation to show you why this is the case. Rather, the document, which the Pacific Forum never actually expressed an intention to publish—was provided to Pacific Forum in a semi-final format, without my name, on the understanding that they would not be circulating it in any way, or for that matter, publishing it, until your review was completed. It would have been impossible to send the paper to you before this point, because until then Pacific Forum was commenting on successive drafts and might even have had additional comments, until we finally shared with them a 'final' version (attached) which ultimately they settled on and which generated no further comments from their side.

- On the rationale for submitting the paper to you, when there were no formal plans for publication: The idea was to include my name on the paper only after its successful approval by your team—after which point it might never be published in any case. I submitted the paper only to be especially rigorous in checking with you, in the event that the Pacific Forum chose—after your review—to feature the paper on its website; Pacific Forum also had noted that it planned to share the paper with Deloitte, which while not a publication in of itself, nonetheless represented, in my mind, an additional distribution that I ought to check with you about in some way.

Given what has been noted here in clarification, namely that, as above, the document was not submitted for publication in any way, would you be able to approve it? I do think that this fits with your definition, and I would appreciate your help very much.

In addition, could you please provide me with a recommended course of action for next steps? I need to know, should I either (1) indicate to the Pacific Forum that my name must remain off the paper, or (2) add my name to the paper (given your new approval)? I would be fine with either option, with a slight preference for #2—but mainly would like to resolve this as soon as possible so as to avoid inconveniencing anyone.

Thank you very much for your help. I look forward to hearing from you. You can reach me at [REDACTED] with any questions.

B6

Dear U.S. Department of State Reviewers,

I am presently working in U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Counterterrorism; I am formally employed as a contractor with MSAG.

I write to submit the attached document for review, and would welcome your response as soon as possible, so that the final version may be officially submitted. Let me begin by noting that I do not expect the document to be published. Rather, it will be shared with a group of experts at: (1) Pacific Forum CSIS, and later, (2) Deloitte. It's possible that the Pacific Forum CSIS may choose to feature it on their website at a later date, thereby publishing it—and presumably Deloitte could do the same.

The document is an analysis of disaster response and recovery in the Philippines, which I co-drafted with several international participants, as a deliverable following an international conference in Japan. It is not related to my work at the U.S. Department of State, and the project was begun before I started work here.

As part of the revision process, the attached paper has already been shared by email with the Pacific Forum CSIS project coordinator responsible for comments and revisions—without listing my name—as a result of my participation in the Pacific Forum's (1) Fellowship Program, and (2) Young Leaders Program, designed for students and young professionals to attend conferences, events, and dialogues related to international relations of East Asia.

I would welcome your review of the document as soon as possible. I am eager to include my name on the final deliverable, along with a caveat statement indicating that the views of the four authors do not necessarily represent the views of their organizations (per a recommendation from L). I do not mind leaving my name off the report, but it occurred to me—and to the legal team—that such an omission does not necessarily eliminate all potential controversies. Pacific Forum CSIS may also prefer that it be included, for program records.

Please do let me know if there is any further action I can take to advance this.

One last question where I would welcome your prompt response: Do I need to submit the the paper via the PA Clearances website (<https://paclearances.state.gov/>)? Or is this unnecessary based on what is noted here? If required, I will create an account and upload it as soon as possible.

Thank you very much for your help. I look forward to working with you on this.

I wrote the attached draft on personal time and without compensation.

It is intended as an opinion piece, linking violent behavior to psychological causes. I was thinking of seeing if any journal or website might be interesting in publishing it.

But, first, I want to make sure I don't violate any rules.

I tried to avoid any mention of U.S. policy or anything related to my official duties. But, the attached does broadly touch briefly on topics related to CT.

What's the process for seeking clearance to publish this personal opinion piece?

PA is charged with reviewing documents on subjects of official concern written by State Department employees in their private capacities. In doing so, we may consult with relevant bureaus.

Under 3 FAM 4170, there are three circumstances in which an employee's personal capacity public communication may be prohibited:

1. If it contains classified information;
2. If it contains information not releasable under FOIA (e.g., protected employee information, law enforcement information, etc.);

3. If it is "highly likely to result in serious adverse consequences to the efficiency or mission of the Department."

If you believe the author's communication meets any of the above criteria, please provide a detailed explanation.

Thank you,

The standard disclaimer required for personal capacity public communications (see 3 FAM 4172.1-4) states, "the views expressed in this article are those of the author and do not necessarily represent the views of the U.S. Department of State or the U.S. Government." Dear [REDACTED]

The Department has completed the review of your request pursuant to 3 FAM 4170 and determined that you may proceed, provided that you include the following disclaimer required for personal capacity public communications (see 3 FAM 4172.1-4):

[REDACTED] is the author of "The Making of Les Bleus: Sport in France, 1958-2010" and a historian at the U.S. Department of State. The views expressed in this article are the author's own and do not necessarily reflect the views of the U.S. Department of State or the United States Government.

Additionally, EUR has suggested that you consider rewording the highlighted sentence below, as they view it as a perhaps an unnecessarily harsh critique of French society that doesn't fit with the tone of the rest of the article.

Dear PA Clearances – Is there any update about the status of this clearance request? I need to have any final edits to the Journal by the end of this month, since they are printing the publication in April. If there are any edits or revisions received from clearing offices so far, I would like to pass those on as soon as possible.

If interagency clearances are outstanding, please also let me know if I can follow-up directly with anyone in the relevant agencies.

Thank you,

Good morning Ms.

State's review should be completed by the end of this week. However, we are still awaiting interagency input as this piece contains interagency equities. We are moving this pretty quickly but the interagency is not bound to our timelines in the FAM. We will do our best to accommodate your request to receive clearance in April.

Thank you,

Dear PA Clearances - I am the author of this article and had a question about interagency clearance - in particular, whether PA has circulated the article to any other agencies? If not, I would be inclined to share it myself with CIA/OGC for their awareness, to ensure they do not have any concerns; but I do not want to double-track if PA has already reached out to them.

Thank you.

Importance: High

I've been asked to contribute a piece to the "Proceedings" of the US Naval Institute, commenting on combined US Navy/Coast Guard/Marine Corps "Cooperative Strategy for 21" Century Seapower, issued last Friday. The link to that document is below.

<http://www.navy.mil/local/maritime/>

I think I've been asked to comment as I was a naval officer prior to joining the State Department and my last job on active duty was at the Pentagon helping to work on the US Navy's successor documents to "The Maritime Strategy."

Attached is my draft. I think this is helpful for the State Department – this latest Navy/Coast Guard/Marine version walks back from any interagency cooperation and the image of AMB Page being escorted to a helicopter reinforces public perceptions that the State Department mainly exists to be evacuated from dangerous areas overseas. I expect that a result from this article being published could be a request from the Navy to the State Department to work more closely together in developing follow-on documents, a process that will directly benefit the Department.

If possible, I ask for expedited clearance. There is no guarantee of publication, but I understand that the Naval Institute wants to get a commentary issue out quickly.

RELEASE IN PART

Hello. I'm writing to seek your advice and guidance.

This afternoon, I received the following invitation from the European Leadership Network (www.europeanleadershipnetwork.org) to submit "a short comment (800-1,000 words)" evaluating the performance of the OSCE Special Monitoring Mission (SMM) in Ukraine one year after its launch. The piece would be posted on the ELN website, but in my understanding would not be published in hard copy. I was approached, not because of my State Department experience, but rather because from 2007-2012, I served as Director of the Office of the OSCE Secretary General (and de facto Deputy Secretary General of the Organization), a position for which I separated from the Department with re-employment rights. Since returning to the Department in June 2012, I have not worked on OSCE issues (with the exception of travel to Ukraine in May-June 2014 as part of an OSCE Election Observation Mission), so the article would be based upon my own experience at the OSCE (during which time I did not have access to classified materials) and open source material. I would be identified, not with a State Department title, but rather as a former senior OSCE (and NATO) official.

Would I need to submit such a contribution to your office for clearance, and if so, could you please advise me of the procedure to be followed, and the approximate duration of the process (please note the last sentence of Dr. Kearns' e-mail – I will seek clarification as to whether he would expect a draft, or merely a confirmation of interest, by April 7th).

Many thanks,

Dear [REDACTED]

I hope my email finds you well. I am writing to invite you to contribute a short comment for the ELN website. The OSCE has been the only organisation working on the ground in the conflict in eastern Ukraine aiming to establish and monitor a viable ceasefire, kick-start the dialogue and help those caught in the conflict zone. One year after the launch of OSCE's Special Monitoring Mission (SMM) to Ukraine, how do you assess the effectiveness of both the organisation and the SMM in containing the conflict? In your opinion, what are the main achievements and what were the main challenges? What more should the SMM do during the next 12 months to help stabilize the situation?

Please let me know if you are interested in sending us a short comment (800-1000 words) by Tuesday 7th April.

With best wishes,

Ian

RELEASE IN PART
B6

Colleagues:

For your review, attached is a 2-page article entitled "Outsourcing Legitimacy," written in private capacity by State Department employee [redacted]

B6

We would appreciate hearing from you by Thursday, April 16. Please see attached Mr. [redacted] responses to the standard questions for additional details.

QUESTIONS TO FOR AUTHORS WHO WISH TO HAVE ARTICLES/MANUSCRIPTS PUBLISHED

- What is the author's first and last name, current job title and office symbol? [redacted] EAP/MLA
- Is the author writing in his/her private capacity or official capacity? Private
- Will the author receive remuneration outside of his/her Department of State salary for the article? No
- Does the author intend to use a disclaimer? If so, how will the disclaimer read? The views expressed here are my own and do not necessarily represent those of the Department of State
 - Who has cleared? EAP PA has seen the text, but I have not asked for formal clearance on something to be published in a private capacity.
 - Where does the author intend to submit the article/manuscript for publication? Penguin Random House, which publishes my novels, will seek placement. The first choice is the New York Times.
 - Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year? Yes, in that it addresses my employment status as an FSO.

PA is charged with reviewing documents on subjects of official concern written by State Department employees in their private capacities. In doing so, we may consult with relevant bureaus.

Under 3 FAM 4170, there are three circumstances in which an employee's personal capacity public communication may be prohibited:

1. If it contains classified information;
2. If it contains information not releasable under FOIA (e.g., protected employee information, law enforcement information, etc.);
3. If it is "highly likely to result in serious adverse consequences to the efficiency or mission of the Department."

If you believe the author's communication meets any of the above criteria, please provide a detailed explanation.

Thank you,
PA Clearances

Subject: Law review article for publication - The Crime of Aggression

Dear PA--

Attached is a draft law journal article on the "crime of aggression", co-authored with former Legal Adviser [REDACTED]. It has been accepted for publication by the American Journal of International Law, which wants to publish it in their spring issue. It has already been reviewed by the two offices I believe relevant: L (where it has been cleared by the Legal Adviser, Mary McLeod) and J/GCJ (where it has been cleared by Jane Stromseth).

Because this is supposed to be published in the spring issue, time is of the essence and we need to get this back to both [redacted] and the American Journal of International Law by the end of the week. I would ask that you do anything possible to expedite the process, and in any event please let me know if you anticipate a problem meeting this deadline.

B6

Thank you very much,
[redacted]

Below is further information that may assist you, but please call me if you have any questions (at 7-2732).

- What is the author's first and last name, current job title and office symbol? [redacted] (currently Professor, Yale Law School, formerly State Department Legal Adviser (L)); [redacted] (Assistant Legal Adviser (L/UNA)).
- Are the authors writing in their private capacity or official capacity? Private capacity.
- Will the author receive remuneration outside of his/her Department of State salary for the article? No.
- Does the author intend to use a disclaimer? If so, how will the disclaimer read? Yes. The disclaimer would read: "This article is written in our personal capacities and does not necessarily represent the views of the United States Government."
- Who else has cleared (your supervisor, others within the Department of State)? Mary McLeod (Acting Legal Adviser); Jane Stromseth (Deputy, J/GCJ – the Office of Global Criminal Justice).
- Where does the author intend to submit the article/manuscript for publication? The American Journal of International Law.
- Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year? No for [redacted] yes for me.

Hello PA,

I need clearance on this op-ed piece I wrote in my personal capacity as a PhD student. I have already cleared it with L/ethics and my DOS supervisor.

As background, I am a former Foreign Affairs Officer in DRL. I currently work as a part time telework contractor with DRL as a Senior Editor for the annual human rights reports from September-March.

I am a PhD candidate in International Studies at the University of Washington in Seattle. I wrote this 2.5 page Op-Ed about Sweden and human rights and would like to publish it in the online journal "E-International Relations". I would like to get State clearance on it before publication. Please let me know if you need any other information from me for your clearance.

PA is charged with reviewing documents on subjects of official concern written by State Department employees in their private capacities. In doing so, we may consult with relevant bureaus.

Under 3 FAM 4170, there are three circumstances in which an employee's personal capacity public communication may be prohibited:

1. If it contains classified information;
2. If it contains information not releasable under FOIA (e.g., protected employee information, law enforcement information, etc.);
3. If it is "highly likely to result in serious adverse consequences to the efficiency or mission of the Department."

If you believe the author's communication meets any of the above criteria, please provide a detailed explanation.

Thank you,
PA Clearances

PA colleagues,

I am a foreign affairs analyst in the Bureau of Intelligence and Research covering cyber issues. I am currently on a one-year leave from INR serving as a visiting fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR). In that capacity I have written a report on cyber matters that will be published by the Council on Foreign Relations. I have submitted a draft to PA Clearances, the draft has been cleared of any classification issues and approved for publication by my office director (Judith Strotz), and I have sent a copy of the paper for review to the Office of the Coordinator for Cyber Issues (c.o. Theodore Nemeroff). Do you know if there is anything else I need to do prior to publication of the report? I want to be sure to follow all of the applicable rules and procedures.

Many thanks,

Hi Jane—

I attended a session on the clearance process at FSI earlier this week with PDAS Valerie Fowler and attorney advisors Maegan Conklin and Ruchi Gill as speakers. FSI/FO and PDAS Val encourage us to publish our work and hope to help us "push through" the clearance process. Maegan advised me to send my piece to PA for clearance before a peer-review journal (in this case, Japanese Studies) reviews it with an understanding that the piece may change as a result of the "revised and resubmit" process. Therefore, I want to try this out with this piece attached on Chinese trainees in Japan..

I normally would do this under my personal capacity but I think the FSI/FO wants institutional publicity in case the piece is accepted for publication. Therefore, I have put both Georgetown University and FSI as my affiliated institutions. It does not matter to me either way.

Please let me know if I need to do anything further.

Thanks—

The way the biography is presented may create confusion to readers that you are writing in an official capacity because it focuses a bit too much on what you have performed in your official capacity as a Foreign Service Officer. We recommend for the statement to be a bit generic. For example, you could say I worked as a FSO for X year focusing on XXX [broad issue(s)]. And include other information that may be relevant, such as previous positions and educational background. Your paper is attached with highlighted suggested edits for your consideration.

Dear Public Affairs,

I am an economic officer on detail assignment to General Electric (GE) for five months. I have worked on several projects during my time here, but it looks like one of the papers that I coauthored has been selected to be published and presented at the World Gas Conference next week, June 1. I was informed by the FSI Economics Course that all publications must be cleared by the Department.

This paper does not have any State Department specific information in it so hopefully that will make it an easy item to clear. Please let me know if you have any questions. I am sending the latest draft since the publicized version is still going through that process.

I'm happy to include the disclaimer, but I'm nowhere in the paper identified as being with the Department of State (nor do I refer to the Department of State), so I would suggest I not include it. Such a disclaimer will actually draw attention to the fact that I'm with State and will be confusing to the reader who will not know why it's there. What do you think?

Good evening all –

[redacted] AVC Special Assistant, copied here, called me this afternoon with some questions regarding PA Clearance of a document written in his personal capacity prior to his employment at State Department.

He wrote an article about one year ago in his previous professional capacity as a Hale Fellow at Ploughshares. This 6,000 word article is on the Nuclear Non-proliferation Treaty Article 6 and is of a historical nature.

He was contacted and told they were decided to publish this article. He is unsure how to proceed. This article was not cleared through the building or the 7th floor of course. I advised we contact PA clearances for recommendation on what if anything he needed to submit to the PA Clearances Database.

Thank you for your assistance!

Best,
Martha

Subject: Carnegie Oil Industry Paper submitted for State Clearance

Dear Doug,

First, congrats on the Iran deal. Fantastic news!!

Second, as I mentioned when I ran into you, I have drafted a paper that Carnegie plans to publish. A draft is attached for State clearance. The paper makes the case that it is in the interest of the oil industry to take collective action to mitigate oil curse symptoms. Of course, I will use the disclaimer that this is my opinion, not necessarily the view of the State Department.

As I mentioned, Bill Burns suggested that I send it to you to make sure that it gets cleared as quickly as possible (please let me know what that time frame looks like?) This is a Carnegie project; therefore, I have not used any State materials nor consulted with anyone within the government. I have consulted with Carnegie experts, EITI, TI, Global Witness, IFC, NRGI, and even the oil industry representatives, who have all generally supported the approach.

Please let me know if you have any questions, or need further information. Thanks for your assistance.

All my best,

Would you be willing to proceed in your personal capacity without referring to your affiliation with the Department (in which case a disclaimer would also not be required)? If so, could you please respond with your views on the two standards set forth above? We will then quickly obtain views from L/Ethics as to whether the standards are met.

o Cambridge University Press
- Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year?
o Not directly. My S/P portfolio covers international relations in the entire East Asian & Pacific region. This chapter is a theoretical analysis of administrative law reforms in China over the past 15 years, based on a quantitative research project that concluded in 2014.

Dear OES Colleagues:

For your review, attached is a 9-page article entitled "Governing the Depths: Conceptualizing the Politics of Deep Sea Resources" co-authored in private capacity by [REDACTED] a Foreign Service Officer, who is currently assigned to EAP/CM. He co-authored the article while on detail as a Council on Foreign Relations International Affairs Fellow and Visiting Researcher, NOAA Southwest Fisheries.

B6

Given the author's tight deadline, we request that you complete your review by OOB Monday, October 26. Please see Mr [REDACTED] responses to the standard questions for additional details.

QUESTIONS TO FOR AUTHORS WHO WISH TO HAVE MANUSCRIPTS PUBLISHED

- What is the author's first and last name, current job title and office symbol?
 - [REDACTED] FSO, EAP/CM.
- Is the author writing in his/her private capacity or official capacity?
 - Private
- Will the author receive remuneration outside of his/her Department of State salary for the article? Note L/Ethics will need to clear if you will receive remuneration.
 - No
- Does the author intend to use a disclaimer? If so, how will the disclaimer read?
 - Yes: We will provide the language to the author.
- Who else has cleared (your supervisor, others within the Department of State)?
 - NOAA/NMFS.
- Where does the author intend to submit the article/manuscript for publication?
 - Global Environmental Politics [an academic journal]
- Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year?
 - No.

PA is charged with reviewing documents on subjects of official concern written by State Department employees in their private capacities. In doing so, we may consult with relevant bureaus.

Under 3 FAM 4170, there are three circumstances in which an employee's personal capacity public communication may be prohibited:

1. If it contains classified information;
2. If it contains information not releasable under FOIA (e.g., protected employee information, law enforcement information, etc.);
3. If it is "highly likely to result in serious adverse consequences to the efficiency or mission of the Department."

If you believe the author's communication meets any of the above criteria, please provide a detailed explanation.

Hi Danna,

As mentioned yesterday, please find attached an article I would like to submit for publication, for PA clearance. I also attach your predecessor's email clarifying that it was OK to proceed and that gives details about the project. This will be a chapter in an academic publication on Latin America's contributions to the International Court of Justice. I included the requisite wording in the first footnote (as per standard Department practice) that "The views expressed herein are the author's and do not necessarily represent those of his employer." The article is aimed at being a dispassionate review of a famous international law case, and contains all secondary academic source material – nothing related to my work in the Department, not using any materials from here, and nothing that was not previously published. The Department's Law Librarian was of great assistance in finding publicly available source material.

I include the "PA Clearances Mailbox" as I think this is where the text needs to go for clearance. If not, please let me know what I need to do to get the Department's clearance to submit.

I have attached an article for PA to clear for publication. Please confirm that you have received this email and can open the attachment.

BACKGROUND: I finished my assignment as SCA PDAS on August 14. I am now in transition and will formally retire from the State Department on November 30. The attached article for the Centre for International Governance Innovation (CIGI) in Ottawa, Canada, is due to the editors on NOV 15, but will not be published until the first quarter of 2016, when I will be a private citizen.

I have access to OpenNet via GO with an RSA token, but a number of functions are not available remotely – e.g., I cannot access the PA web site for clearances and the PA Help Desk gave me this email address from the GAL.

My daily, primary email address is [REDACTED]. It is important that you copy any replies to that address.

Again, please confirm that you have received this email and can open the attachment.

I'm grateful for your help and look forward to your clearance.

Laura,

Hi! Good seeing you at CSIS the other day!

I am forwarding a short academic paper I've drafted in response to a request from the editors of the Georgetown University School of Foreign Affairs (where I'm teaching) Asian Affairs Journal for the Policy Forum section in their next issue focusing on "Leadership and International Politics in Asia."

As you will see, the paper doesn't contain anything sensitive (as far as I can tell), and really seeks to describe the consensus process in APEC. I also wanted to take this opportunity to highlight the important things that APEC is working on.

Please let me know if this needs further clearance and, if so, could you ask someone to move the paper forward? I would of course also welcome input and updates from the APEC team. The article is to be limited to 2-3,000 words and I need to submit the final draft by the end of the month.

Thanks much and have a good weekend!

QUESTIONS TO ASK AUTHORS WHO WISH TO HAVE ARTICLES/MANUSCRIPTS PUBLISHED

What is the author's first and last name, current job title and office symbol?:

Foreign Affairs Officer, NEA/AC. B6

Is the author writing in his/her private capacity or official capacity?
Private.

Will the author receive remuneration outside of his/her Department of State salary for the article? Note, we will need to obtain L/Ethics clearance if you are expecting to receive remuneration.
No remuneration is expected for this article.

Does the author intend to use a disclaimer? If so, how will the disclaimer read?

A disclaimer will be used. It will read: is a State Department employee who recently finished three years working for the Syria Transition Assistance Response Team in Turkey. The views expressed are her own and not necessarily those of the U.S.

Who else has cleared (your supervisor, others within the Department of State)?

NEA/PPD - D Fogarty (ok); NEA/LEV - L Keene (ok); PRM/Press - B Street (ok); START: M Ward (ok); NEA/AC - B Aggeler (ok).

Where does the author intend to submit the article/manuscript for publication?

It will appear online on AL.com and in print in the Birmingham News, The Huntsville Times and the Mobile Press-Register, all of which are owned by Alabama Media Group.

Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year?

Yes, the author refers to her work with the Syria Transition Assistance Response Team from 2013-2015.

To clarify, PA would run the review process for employees in the U.S. and for the Chiefs of Mission. Employees abroad should submit their personal capacity public communications for review to the Chief of Mission or designee (see 3 FAM 4174.3 'Final Review Offices'). Sure, you can just send it to me or paclearances@state.gov when it's finished. They can walk you through this.
FYSA, Mark Toner is addressing this today at DPB, and I'd imagine D will address more in his co-leadership of syria/refugee issues with PRM. He's taken a more active role as of late.

Congrats on wrapping START (I think that happened, right?) You were a founding member! Must be bittersweet.

Hope you're enjoying a break. Keep me posted on this and where you land next.

Take care,
Dan

Subject: Op Ed on Syrian Refugees

Hi, Dan -

I hope this finds you well. I'm writing from my Gmail because I'm on leave and without State Department email access. I'm really disturbed by the responses I'm seeing to Syrian refugees in the wake of the Paris attacks, and I'd like to write an Op Ed in the Birmingham News (my hometown paper) that helps to humanize the refugees that are being resettled in the US. Is that something I need to clear with PD? If so, can you send me info for the most appropriate point of contact?

Thanks;

Dear EUR, AF, NEA, and IO Colleagues:

For your review, attached is a 7-page article entitled "The Institutional Process of Envoys" written in private capacity by [REDACTED] in S/P. Note - [REDACTED] wrote this article and submitted it for publication B6 before he accepted employment at the State Department.

We would appreciate hearing from you by COB Friday, November 20. Please see attached [REDACTED] responses to the standard questions for additional details.

QUESTIONS TO FOR AUTHORS WHO WISH TO HAVE MANUSCRIPTS PUBLISHED

- What is the author's first and last name, current job title and office symbol?
 - [REDACTED] in S/P
- Is the author writing in his/her private capacity or official capacity?
 - Private
- Will the author receive remuneration outside of his/her Department of State salary for the article? Note L/Ethics will need to clear if you will receive remuneration.
 - Yes
- Does the author intend to use a disclaimer? If so, how will the disclaimer read?
 - Yes: Member, Policy Planning Staff, Office of the Secretary of State, U.S. Department of State. This article was written and submitted before the author joined the State Department. The views expressed here do not necessarily reflect the official policy or position of the U.S. government.
- Who else has cleared (your supervisor, others within the Department of State)?
 - No one
- Where does the author intend to submit the article/manuscript for publication?
 - NYU Center on International Cooperation.
- Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year?
 - No

PA is charged with reviewing documents on subjects of official concern written by State Department employees in their private capacities. In doing so, we may consult with relevant bureaus.

Under 3 FAM 4170, there are three circumstances in which an employee's personal capacity public communication may be prohibited:

1. If it contains classified information;
2. If it contains information not releasable under FOIA (e.g., protected employee information, law enforcement information, etc.);
3. If it is "highly likely to result in serious adverse consequences to the efficiency or mission of the Department."

If you believe the author's communication meets any of the above criteria, please provide a detailed explanation.

Dear Ms. [REDACTED]

The Department has completed the review of this request pursuant to 3 FAM 4170 and determined that you may proceed with the publication, provided that you include the disclaimer required for personal capacity public communications (see 3 FAM 4176.1), that the views expressed in this chapter are those of the author and not necessarily those of the U.S. Government.

Additionally, Embassy Islamabad provided the following suggested edits for your consideration:

- In "America, Bad Country," Embassy Islamabad suggests changing the title to "America. Bad Country, Good Country" since both are used in the text.
- In "Roomful of Cognates," Embassy Islamabad suggests removing name "[REDACTED]" to avoid identification.
- In "Seven Sketches," Embassy Islamabad suggests editing the sentence that reads, "She told the staff that I looked [REDACTED] referring to an American officer who was already working in the section where I was assigned," to "She told the staff that I looked a lot like another American officer who was already working in the section where I was assigned," to avoid identification. Also please ensure that officer knows she will be referenced in the chapter.
- In "Capital Contained," Embassy Islamabad suggests removing the reference to [REDACTED] who are likely still employed at the Embassy.

Thank you,

Hello,

Here are the requested answers from the author to the questionnaire. Let me know if you need anything further. Best,
Ajay

QUESTIONS TO ASK AUTHORS WHO WISH TO HAVE MANUSCRIPTS PUBLISHED

- What is the author's first and last name, current job title and office symbol? (Outgoing) B6
Cultural Affairs Officer, Embassy Islamabad
- What is the author's onward assignment? Public Affairs Officer, WHA/HSC (reports to work 9/21/2015)
- Is the author writing in his/her private capacity or official capacity? Private capacity
- Will the author receive remuneration outside of his/her Department of State salary for the article? Note L/Ethics will need to clear if you will receive remuneration. Royalties, which in my case will not amount to that much
- Does the author intend to use a disclaimer? If so, how will the disclaimer read? yes; "The views expressed are those of the author, and not necessarily those of the U.S. Department of State, the employee's agency, or the U.S. Government."
- Who else has cleared (your supervisor, others within the Department of State)? SCA/PPD Ajay Rao, has not yet been reviewed by post or Office of Pakistan Affairs [will probably need to be cleared by PAS Islamabad, Islamabad Executive Office, SCA/PPD and SRAP. If PA requires POCs, please go through SCA/PPD Desk Officer Ajay Rao]
- Where does the author intend to submit the article/manuscript for publication? Inkwater Press
- Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year? The focus is not work duties but rather the larger cultural context of living in Pakistan. Two exceptions are "Interfaith Tuk-Tuk (backdrop is Jaipur, India) and "Dry Clean Only" (backdrop is Colombo, Sri Lanka). In both cases my visits were as a tourist there for pleasure.

PA Colleagues,

██████████ (outgoing cultural attache for U.S. Embassy Islamabad) in her personal capacity seeks PA clearance (as Final Review Office) on the attached chapters in her book. I will be sending these chapters to you for clearance in six emails (this is batch #1). If you need contacts to reach out to at post and on the desk, please let me know, and I can assist with connecting you to these points of contact for their clearance if necessary.

The book Pakistan, Yesterday and Tomorrow (working title) is a collection of brief sketches, largely in first-person narrative by author █████ that tell the tale of everyday personal encounters while living and working in Pakistan as the Cultural Attaché at U.S. Embassy Islamabad. These fast-track pieces show reward in the challenge of being a foreigner in a foreign land, especially where security and sensitivities are pre-set at simmer. The composite picture of living in Pakistan's capital city – only fifteen minutes from the country itself – is a celebration of a people who share more in common with the United States than is generally acknowledged. The inner edges of these experiences capture the author's fascination with navigating cultural norms among diverse communities within the global village.

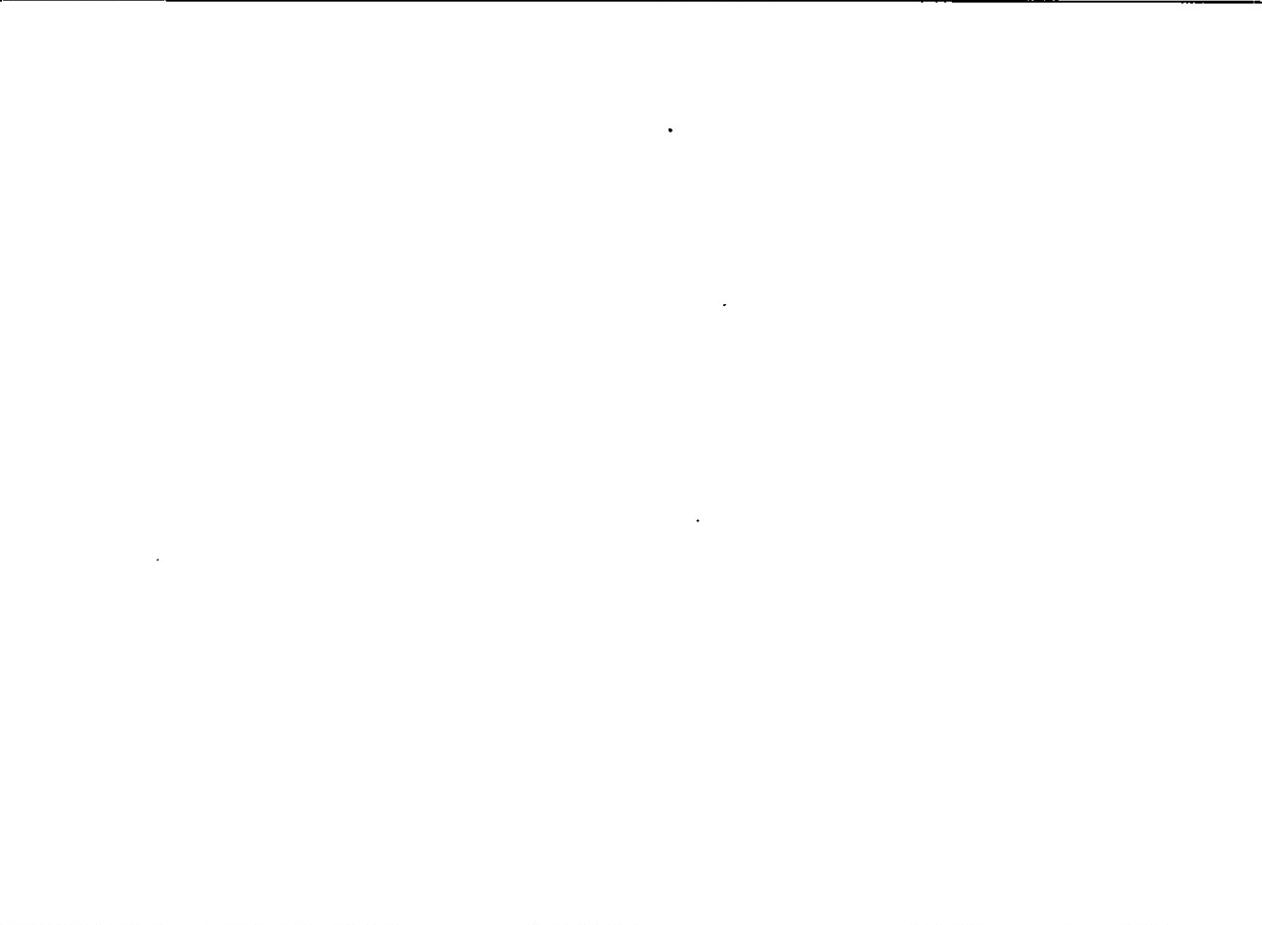

The book comprises twenty-five chapters and will most likely be published by Inkwater Press, publisher as well of [redacted]

To whom it may concern,

I have written a draft analytical paper on an issue I followed closely while I was the economic officer in Ghana – China's $3 billion loan to the country. I have not decided on the exact venue of publication, but it could be a chapter of a book or a separate journal article on development in Africa. I am writing up this piece because I believe it is an important and very complex story illustrating the immense challenges of Chinese financing of large infrastructure projects in Africa.

There is no classified information in this paper, as all information, as well as cited sources, are of public in nature (mostly websites, news reports, think tank reports and IMF/World Bank reports). However, I believe it is prudent that I submit this analytical paper for your perusal before publication. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Dear Ms. [redacted]

The Department has completed the review of this request pursuant to 3 FAM 4170 and determined that you may proceed with the publication, provided that you include the disclaimer required for personal capacity public communications (see 3 FAM 4176.1), that the views expressed in this chapter are those of the author and not necessarily those of the U.S. Government.

During the course of the review, PA received two comments that we are sharing with you purely for your consideration:

- The quoted statistics do not have a reference; and
- The statement about "significant" number of medevacs is not accurate – the number of children medically evacuated is very small.

Thank you,

B6

Greetings,

I am on detail from the Department of State teaching public diplomacy at George Washington University for a year. Part of my assignment at the university is to contribute regular blogs on public diplomacy for the university web page. In the attached, I have included seven blogs which will go out on a weekly basis, which make sense (I hope) individually but combine to make a coherent argument. My bottom line is that there is a false dichotomy between cultural/exchanges programs seen as policy neutral and messaging seen as policy laden. Policy should govern everything we do.

I have a few examples from Afghanistan, and from two of my last assignments, Cyprus and Germany, which I think are pretty anodyne.

Thank you very much for clearing on this. I look forward to hearing from you.

This is not highly specialized nor is it analytical. The event noted is already out on USIP's web site. Everything that is noted in this piece has been said and is already on the record. I sent this over on an abundance of caution. Please have another look. There is a misunderstanding here.

Thanks—I understand the disclaimer is necessary and will absolutely include it. What I'm struggling with is to include the disclaimer without the title or some sort of reference to my work at the Department is confusing to the reader. If PA is able and willing to provide an example of how others have included their title, that is much appreciated. Otherwise, I will use my best judgement so that it makes sense.

Many thanks again,

There is no need to provide your title with the article if you don't want to.

However, the use of the disclaimer is required.

Thanks. The FAM is a bit confusing about titles and the disclaimer—obviously I am not writing in my public capacity, but adding a disclaimer that my views are not necessarily those of USG seems strange without some sort of nod to my day job. Do you have an example of a disclaimer you can point to?

Hello,

I just started working at the Department of State last week as an unpaid Franklin Fellow in the EUR/CARC office. I wasn't sure if I needed to get the attached five items reviewed. My Department of State email address is [REDACTED]@State.gov

Two are academic review articles of books about terrorism and conflict in Europe and South Asia. One is a review of an academic book covering the Chechen conflict. The last two are conference papers for academic conferences, the International Studies Association and Pacific Coast Conference on British Studies.

None of these works comment on US policy or involve any materials from the Department of State. In no way am I representing myself as giving government opinion.

Please let me know these need approved or if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Dear PA,

I am abroad on TDY and cannot access State Department intranet, so i cannot submit a request for PA clearance through the normal channels. Is it possible to do so via email?

Attached is the document I would like to have published.

I am an analyst in INR/EC/ET. My supervisor, [REDACTED] has approved it. I am awaiting approval from my bureau, which would include certification that no classified or proprietary information is involved. B6

I need EAP and EB clearances, and will forward this email to their public affairs offices.

The venue is a Center for Strategic and International Studies online publication. CSIS is a reputable local think tank that would like to publish short summaries of a recent conference in which I recently participated. The content of my paper is 100% derived from a public testimony that I gave to the US congressional economic and security commission earlier this year (with PA approval).

The online publication would include about two-dozen short papers from China experts on the Chinese economy.

I would receive no compensation and the paper would include a disclaimer that my views did not represent those of the Department and represented my private research only. In fact, everything in the paper was based on work I did before joining the Department.

My main challenge at this point is navigating the PA process without access to the intranet, so please advise what you need from me to proceed.

Thank you very much,

Hi PA Clearances,

I submitted a clearance request last week for my April 22 testimony before the US-China Economic and Security Review Commission (which was due to them one hour ago).

I have not heard back, and wanted to check on the status of the application.

EAP/CM and EB's lead China coordinator have both cleared, which I believe are the two major outstanding issues.

Please advise if there is anything else holding up this request!

Thank you very much!

Good morning.

I am seeking the "Final Review Offices" listed in 3 FAM 4174.3*. (The PAOPEGroup@state.gov address listed on the Public Affairs intranet site is "no longer valid".)

I am a State Department employee and also a family member. I have written an article for AAFSW's (Associates of the American Foreign Service Worldwide) upcoming book about children in the Foreign Service. Per 3 FAM, I may need to have my article reviewed before I submit it to the publisher.

Do you know if "Overseas Schools" is a "topic of Departmental concern"? There is nothing classified and there would be no negative ramifications from this article, of which I am aware. The Office of Overseas Schools has already reviewed much of this and has no objection.

If so, to whom do I submit my article for review? The article is part of a book written for AAFSW by family members of foreign service officers. We are all volunteers. The purpose of the book is to help other family members adjust to living overseas. I have attached the article so you can best advise me.

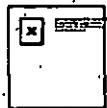

*Full text of 3 FAM 4174.3c:

c. Employees' personal capacity public communications must be reviewed if they are on a topic "of Departmental concern" (see 3 FAM 4173). Personal capacity public communications that clearly do not address matters of Departmental concern need not be submitted for review.

Dear EAP press,

I am a DoS Employee on a one year fellowship outside the Department. I would like to publish the attached on China's Belt and Road, based on research at the Center for American Progress. For publications related to other bureaus, I have typically gone through their press offices - please let me know if this process is the same for EAP. Please find relevant information below. As noted, we would like review completed by next Friday.
Thank you in advance!

Subject:

Submission of article for PA clearance - DOS PD Fellowship article due to Council of American Ambassadors this week

Dear PA colleagues,

Can you please advise on the process for submitting an article for PA clearances for publication? I was selected for a DOS program for PD officers run in partnership with the Council of American Ambassadors (CAA), and as part of the fellowship I was required to write an article for the "Ambassadors' Review" on an issue related to Public Diplomacy which I researched throughout the fellowship year (via interviews with current and former ambassadors and through academic study at the condensed Summer Institute at USC's Center for Public Diplomacy.) The article will appear in the CAA's professional magazine that goes to its members, entitled "The Ambassador's Review".

Since DOS selected me for this program and it's a requirement of the program that I write this article, as all previous fellows from this program have done, I'm assuming this is a permitted activity. As such, does PA have to clear the specific text? If so, the CAA requires a cleared text by this Thursday September 17th.

Best regards,

P.S. I'm a PD Officer, who's currently in immersion language training overseas and thus I don't have regular access to my State account [REDACTED] @state.gov nor to an OpenNet computer this year. If you need to clear the specific text, is it possible for me to submit the article to you today via email? Thank you so much for your help and please let me know if there's a different POC I should be reaching out to!

PA/HO occasionally provides factual, publically-available information on diplomatic and Department history to the public, including journalists, through our history@state.gov mailbox. Do we need to apply for a blanket authorization, as mentioned in the FAM below? And on a related note, if we provide information directly to a journalist at the request of the press office, would we need to notify PA Reviews?

REVIEW OF PUBLIC SPEAKING, TEACHING, WRITING, AND MEDIA ENGAGEMENT

*(CT:PER-776; 07-27-2015)
(Office of Origin: PA)*

3 FAM 4171 APPLICABILITY

(CT:PER-776; 07-27-2015)

(State/USAID)

(Applies to all Employees in the United States and Abroad)

- a. The provisions of this subchapter apply to all personnel in the United States and abroad who are currently employed (even if in Leave Without Pay status) by the Department of State and the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), including but not limited to Foreign Service (FS) employees, Civil Service (CS) employees (including schedule C appointees and annuitants returning to work on temporary appointments on an intermittent basis, commonly referred to as "While Actually Employed (WAE)" personnel), locally employed staff (LE Staff), personal service contractors (PSCs), employees assigned to fellowships or details elsewhere and detailees or fellows from other entities assigned to the Department, externs/interns, and special government employees (SGEs) as defined in 18 U.S.C. 202(a) (all together referred to as "employees"). USAID service contractors and implementing partners should consult USAID's Bureau for Legislative and Public Affairs for applicable guidelines.
- b. Former Department of State employees (including former interns and externs) must seek guidance from A/GIS/IPS for applicable review process information. Former USAID employees (including former interns and externs) must consult the Bureau for Legislative and Public Affairs for applicable review process information.
- c. The provisions of this subchapter apply to all public communications as defined in 3 FAM 4173, such as speaking, teaching, writing, and press/media engagement, including that prepared for electronic dissemination in an employee's official capacity, or in an employee's personal capacity if on a topic "of Departmental concern," as defined in 3 FAM 4173.
- d. The provisions in this subchapter apply to all non-emergency public communications. During crisis situations, posts should seek guidance from Washington as the review process may change. See 12 FAH-1 H-400 for information on crisis communications.
- e. Views on matters of Departmental concern communicated through methods of internal communication (including, for example, the Department's internal dissent channel) or disclosures made pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 2302(b)(8)(B) are not subject to the review requirements of this subchapter.
- f. Employee testimony, whether in an official capacity or in a personal capacity on a matter of Departmental concern, may be subject to the review requirements of this subchapter. Employees should consult with the Department of State's Office of the Legal Adviser or USAID's Office of the General Counsel, as appropriate, to determine applicable procedures.
- g. USAID's internal implementation procedures are not comprehensively discussed in this subchapter. USAID employees should seek guidance from the Bureau for Legislative and Public Affairs.

3 FAM 4172 AUTHORITIES

(CT:PER-776; 07-27-2015)

(State/USAID)

(Applies to all Employees in the United States and Abroad)

- a. The provisions of this subchapter are consistent with and do not supersede, conflict with, or otherwise alter the employee obligations, rights, or liabilities created by statute or Executive order relating to (1) classified information, (2) communications to Congress, (3) the reporting to an Inspector General of a violation of any law, rule, or regulation, or mismanagement, a gross waste of funds, an abuse of authority, or a substantial and specific danger to public health or safety, or (4) any other whistleblower protection. The definitions, requirements, obligations, rights, sanctions, and liabilities created by controlling Executive orders and statutory provisions are incorporated into this policy and are controlling.

3 FAM 4173 DEFINITIONS

(CT:PER-776; 07-27-2015)

(State/USAID)

(Applies to all Employees in the United States and Abroad)

Appearance: Any live or real-time (even if delayed) presentation of views or ideas, including but not limited to physical presence before an audience, participation in a text-only or visual online forum, participation in a press interview (in-person, online, or over the phone), or teaching.

Department: Both the U.S. Department of State and USAID, including U.S. and overseas offices, missions, and/or posts.

Electronic dissemination: Information disseminated through electronic means, including but not limited to email distributions, social media, removable media like CD-ROM, or other technologies.

Employees: Current FS employees, CS employees (including schedule C appointees and annuitants returning to work on temporary appointments on an intermittent basis, commonly referred to as "WAE" personnel), LE Staff, PSCs, employees assigned to fellowships or details elsewhere and detailees or fellows from other entities assigned to the Department, externs/interns, SGEs as defined in 18 U.S.C. 202(a), and any other personnel who are employed by State or USAID in the United States or abroad.

Final Review Office: The office assigned to conduct formal reviews on behalf of the Department, when required, of a particular employee's or office's public communications, as listed in the chart at 3 FAM 4174.3(a).

Media engagement: Interviews or written submissions for newspaper, magazine, TV, radio, documentary, or other media organizations or products, including online forums.

Media organization: A person or entity engaged in disseminating information to the general public through a newspaper, magazine, other publication, radio, television, or other means of mass communication, including online forums such as blogs.

Of Departmental concern: Pertaining to current U.S. foreign policy or the Department's mission (including policies, programs, operations or activities of the Department of State or USAID), or which reasonably may be expected to affect the foreign relations of the United States.

Official capacity: Pursuant to an employee's employment responsibilities, or in any capacity representing the Department, regardless of location or forum.

Personal capacity: Not pursuant to an employee's official capacity, i.e., in his or her capacity as a private citizen. The content of a personal capacity public communication may nevertheless be of Departmental concern.

Protected Information: Information protected by law, regulations, privilege, or policy including but not limited to classified, sensitive but unclassified, non-public or controlled unclassified information.

Public: Non-U.S.-government audience(s).

Public communication: Appearances and/or publications for a public audience, including engagement with press/media organizations.

Publication: Any prepared written communication presenting views or ideas for public dissemination, including but not limited to books, articles, papers, text of oral remarks, letters to the editor, and digital or online posts, including social media.

Publish: To disseminate a publication.

Social media: Digital technologies, applications and platforms that allow publishing, communication, and collaboration among individuals and institutions.

3 FAM 4174 GENERAL POLICY AND PROCEDURES

3 FAM 4174.1 Policy

(CT:PER-776; 07-27-2015)

(State/USAID)

(Applies to all Employees in the United States and Abroad)

- a. The Department encourages employees, in both their official and personal capacities, to undertake responsible activities, including public communications, devoted to increasing public study and understanding of the nation's foreign relations.
- b. Social media provides an important means for the Department to fulfill its lead role in the conduct of U.S. foreign policy. The Department encourages innovative and responsible use of social media by employees.

3 FAM 4174.2 Overview

(CT:PER-776; 07-27-2015)

(State/USAID)

(Applies to all Employees in the United States and Abroad)

- a. Public communications may be conducted in employees' official capacities, or in their personal capacities. As detailed in this subchapter, different standards and procedures govern each of these situations. Online communications such as social media use are not exempted from those standards and procedures except as described herein.
- b. Employees' official capacity public communications, including written submissions to media organizations, interviews with the media, or other official media appearances must be reviewed and cleared by the applicable Final Review Office, as defined in 3 FAM 4174.3(a). However, the Final Review Office, in its discretion, may issue certain blanket authorizations to engage to employees, offices, or sections, particularly for social media engagement; see 3 FAM 4175.1(c).
- c. Employees' personal capacity public communications must be reviewed if they are on a topic "of Departmental concern" (see 3 FAM 4173). Personal capacity public communications that clearly do not address matters of Departmental concern need not be submitted for review.
 - (1) The personal capacity public communications review requirement is intended to serve three purposes: to determine whether the communication would disclose classified or other protected information without authorization; to allow the Department to prepare to handle any potential ramifications for its mission or employees that could result from the proposed public communication; or, in rare cases, to identify public communications that are highly likely to result in serious adverse consequences to the mission or efficiency of the Department, such that the Secretary or Deputy Secretary must be afforded the opportunity to decide whether it is necessary to prohibit the communication (see 3 FAM 4176.4).
 - (2) The purposes of the review are limited to those described in paragraph (1); the review is not meant to insulate employees from discipline or other administrative action related to their communications, or otherwise provide assurances to employees on matters such as suitability for continued employment (see, e.g., 3 FAM 4130 for foreign service personnel and 5 CFR 731 for civil service).

- personnel). Ultimately, employees remain responsible for their personal capacity public communications whether or not such communications are on topics of Departmental concern.
- d. No current or former employee is permitted to publish or otherwise disclose to the public (including by posting to the Internet or social media) materials that contain classified information. However, employees may make a protected disclosure of classified information to the Office of the Special Counsel or the Office of the Inspector General.
 - e. In addition to complying with the provisions of this subchapter, employees engaged in public communication must also comply with applicable laws and regulations, including the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Employees of the Executive Branch (5 CFR Part 2635) and laws referenced in that regulation, and other authorities listed in 3 FAM 4172.

3 FAM 4174.3 Final Review Offices

(CT:PER-776; 07-27-2015)

(State/USAID)

(Applies to all Employees in the United States and Abroad)

- a. Where the provisions in this subchapter require formal review on behalf of the Department for official or personal capacity public communications, that review will be conducted by the appropriate "Final Review Office" listed in the chart below:

Agency	Employees	Final Review Office
State	Employees in U.S. and Chiefs of Mission	Bureau of Public Affairs (PA)*
State	Employees abroad other than Chiefs of Mission	Chief of Mission or designee
USAID	Employees in U.S.	USAID's Bureau for Legislative and Public Affairs (LPA)
USAID	Employees abroad	Chief of Mission or designee with concurrence of LPA

*The Final Review Office for public communications by the PA Assistant Secretary is the Under Secretary for Public Diplomacy and Public Affairs or his/her designee.

Does not generally include those employees abroad only on temporary duty status; such individuals must submit their communications for review to the relevant Final Review Office for their normal location of assignment, unless the latter has approved other arrangements.

- b. Public communications that are subject to review must be submitted in advance to the appropriate Final Review Office, in an editable format. That Office will respond as quickly as possible within the timeframes below if the proposed communication does not involve equities of another U.S. Government entity (e.g., NSA, NSC, CIA, DoD, etc.). When the proposed communication must be referred to another U.S. Government entity or entities for review, additional time may be required to complete the review.
- c. To ensure that no classified information is improperly disclosed, an employee must not take any steps to proceed with a public communication (including making commitments to publishers or other parties) until he or she receives written notice to proceed from the Final Review Office, except as described below. If, upon expiration of the relevant timeframes below, the Final Review Office has not provided an employee with either a final response or an indication that a public communication involves equities of another U.S. Government entity (including a list of the entity or entities with equities), the employee may use, issue, or publish materials on matters of Departmental concern that have been submitted for review so long as such materials do not contain information described in 3 FAM 4176.2(a) and taking into account the principles in 4176.2(b). When an employee has been informed by the Final Review Office that his or her public communication involves equities of another U.S. Government entity or entities, the employee should not proceed without written notice to proceed from the Final Review Office. Upon the employee's request, the Final Review Office will provide the employee with an update on the status of the review of his or her public communication, including, if applicable, the date(s) on which the Department submitted the employee's communication to another entity or entities for review. Ultimately, employees remain responsible for their personal capacity public communications whether or not such communications are on topics of Departmental concern:

Intended Public Communication*	Review Timeframe
Books, manuscripts, and other publications of considerable length	30 working days
Articles, papers, and other writings of a highly specialized nature	20 working days
Other papers or articles, including online publications	15 working days
Notification of a planned speaking engagement or other appearance	8 working days
Speeches, remarks, talking points, or notes for appearances	5 working days
Informal blog postings	5 working days
Other social media postings	2 working days

*Note: As this subchapter describes, not all public communication is subject to any type of review, and in some cases blanket authorization to engage, as described in 3 FAM 4175.1(c), may be granted. When in doubt, employees should consult their supervisors or Final Review Office for guidance.

3 FAM 4175 OFFICIAL CAPACITY PUBLIC COMMUNICATIONS

3 FAM 4175.1 General

(CT:PER-776; 07-27-2015)

(State/USAID)

(Applies to all Employees in the United States and Abroad)

- a. Official capacity public communication may be conducted only if approved by the applicable Final Review Office (see 3 FAM 4174.3(a)) pursuant to the provisions of this subchapter. (For USAID see the Automated Directives System (ADS)).

- b. Public communication undertaken as part of an official Department-approved fellowship or detail on matters of Departmental concern, including that of employees detailed outside the Department as well as employees from other agencies detailed to the Department, will be subject to the official capacity review process.
- c. An individual, office and/or section that routinely conducts official public communication in order to satisfy essential programmatic responsibilities may be exempted from the review process if advance blanket authorization to engage has been previously granted by the Final Review Office. The blanket authorization to engage, once given, allows the holder to communicate publicly subject to the parameters of the authorization, and provided that all content conforms to the content rules outlined in 3 FAM 4175.2. Offices or sections whose employees have been granted blanket authorizations to engage must develop an internal review mechanism and accountability process for such content within the office. The Final Review Office will periodically review previously issued blanket authorizations to engage, and reserves the right to revoke such an authorization upon determination that revocation is in the best interest of the Department. Holders of a blanket authorization to engage may also be disciplined or subject to other administrative action related to their communications.
- d. When engaging in speaking, teaching, or writing as part of his or her official duties, an employee may not accept compensation for the activity from any source other than the U.S. Government. See 11 FAM 600.
- e. An employee may use his or her official title for purposes of identification, since the employee will have been authorized to engage in the activity in an official capacity.

3 FAM 4175.2 Content of Official Capacity Public Communications

(CT:PER-776; 07-27-2015)

(State/USAID)

(Applies to all Employees in the United States and Abroad)

a. Official capacity content must:

- (1) Be relevant and appropriate, in keeping with Department messaging, and in line with the communicating employee's, office's, or section's programmatic responsibilities. When relevant, employees should consult with other interested Department offices, posts, or sections;
- (2) Adhere to the content and security policies in 5 FAM 776.3 and 5 FAM 777, as applicable;
- (3) Identify, when using third party content, if there is a relationship between the Department and the third party to ensure transparency; and
- (4) When at post, respect host country laws consistent with Department policy. Employees are responsible for knowing host country laws.

b. Content must not:

- (1) Be inconsistent with stated U.S. Government policy, unless clearly contextualized as another entity's view shared in the interest of educating, informing, or encouraging dialogue about U.S. Government policies, U.S. principles, or U.S. society;
- (2) Comment on matters that are highly sensitive for the foreign relations or foreign policy goals of the United States, or on matters for which PA should otherwise be the first to speak for the Department, unless approved by PA or authorized (in consultation with the Department of State's Office of the Legal Adviser or USAID's Office of the General Counsel, as appropriate) by law or regulations;

- (3) Be libelous, defamatory, or offensive, including with regard to representatives of foreign governments, except when the text reflects an official cleared policy stance;
 - (4) Contain, or in any way allow the public to access, classified or other protected information, even if it is already publicly available due to a previous unauthorized disclosure, including:
 - (a) Material that the Department believes should be protected from public disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), 5 U.S.C. 552(b), including internal pre-decisional deliberative material;
 - (b) Information that reasonably could be expected to interfere with law enforcement proceedings or operations;
 - (c) Information pertaining to procurement in violation of 41 U.S.C. 2101-2107;
 - (d) Sensitive personally identifiable information as defined in 5 FAM 795.1(f); and
 - (e) Other nonpublic information, when used in a manner as prohibited by 5 CFR 2635.703.
 - (5) Promote a personal business or political point of view; or
 - (6) Contain a solicitation of any kind, or advertising on behalf of a non-U.S. government entity, without advance approval from the Department of State's Office of the Legal Adviser or USAID's Office of the General Counsel, as appropriate.
- c. Particular guidance for social media content:
- (1) The guidelines and restrictions in this subchapter have been developed to provide greater discretion to employees to post relevant content to official Department social media sites, and other social media sites as appropriate, subject to the guidance of their supervisors;
 - (2) Re-posting or re-using official content from sites managed by the Department, or other U.S. government agencies where relevant and consistent with Department messaging, is encouraged. The posting of original content is also encouraged provided it complies with the requirements outlined in paragraphs (a) and (b) above;
 - (3) Employees may post appropriate third-party content or links to external sites, social media accounts, or specific pieces of social media content deemed to be reputable for informational purposes, provided the content complies with the requirements outlined in paragraphs (a) and (b) above. Content managers are responsible for ensuring that use of external links is not biased toward any one source or publication, and should be careful not to be perceived as official endorsement or sanction of a commercial enterprise;
 - (4) When non-U.S. Government links are provided, the social media profile must include the following information, if possible, and otherwise a link to a site containing a Terms of Use (see 5 FAM 793.4) that contains the following information: The links contained herein are for informational purposes only and do not necessarily reflect the views or endorsement of the U.S. Government; and
 - (5) See 5 FAM 794 for additional guidelines on content record-keeping.
- d. Copyrighted materials must be used only in accordance with current copyright laws, which typically require permission from the copyright owner. Refer to 5 FAM 490, Use of Copyrighted Material, for specific policy in this area. Material created by the Department cannot be copyrighted, and no copyright insignia ("©") or statement claiming copyright of a purely government work may be used, including on social media. Employees should also check the terms of the license for any third party material incorporated into Department material that they wish to use, to be sure that the use they intend is allowable.

3 FAM 4175.3 Review Process for Official Appearances and Media Engagement

(CT:PER-776; 07-27-2015)

(State/USAID)

(Applies to all Employees in the United States and Abroad)

- a. All invitations for official appearances, including to speak, lecture, or participate in conferences or media interviews in an official capacity, must be referred for review to the appropriate Final Review Office. (See chart at 3 FAM 4174.3(a).) This should be done as soon as the invitation is made, even if materials (such as a speech or talking points) have not yet been prepared. Such materials should be submitted as soon as possible thereafter, as described below in paragraph (b). For employees submitting a request to PA, such requests should be submitted via PAReviews@state.gov.
- b. PA clears all public remarks by senior officials at the Assistant Secretary level and above, including Chiefs of Mission. All other employees must first submit the text, talking points, interview notes, or other materials to support the appearance to their immediate supervisors and any other offices concerned with the subject matter for preliminary review, editing, and approval. Once those preliminary approvals have been collected, the materials must be submitted to the Final Review Office, noting all such clearances, and referencing the Final Review Office's clearance of the engagement itself, sought per paragraph (a) above.
- c. For informal presentations, professional meetings, conferences, and panel discussions where, because of the nature of the public appearance, no prepared script or outline will be available for review, the speaker is responsible for seeking out and then observing policy limitations from relevant subject matter offices in order to ensure that his or her remarks are consistent with U.S. foreign policy and could not reasonably be expected to interfere with the efficiency or mission of the Department. Further, as always, the speaker is responsible for ensuring that his or her remarks involve no violation of security or other dissemination of classified or other protected information.
- d. When participating in an online video or text-based chat or other engagement conducted over the Internet, employees must adhere to the same review requirements as for live public appearances.
- e. Generally, official statements to the press are made only by the Secretary; a Deputy Secretary or Under Secretary; Ambassadors at post; the Assistant Secretary for Public Affairs; Department Spokesperson or Deputy Spokesperson; authorized personnel of the Office of Press Relations; and other Department officials cleared to deliver such statements by the Final Review Office. As with other official appearances, drafts of public remarks or talking points for engagements with the media should be submitted as early as possible for clearance.
- f. While the Chief of Mission or his or her designee serves as the Final Review Office at posts, requests for employees abroad to engage with U.S. domestic media organizations and organizations with significant U.S. domestic impact, particularly English language outlets, must also be reviewed by PA. Prior consultation with PA on other important public statements is also expected.

3 FAM 4175.4 Review Process for Official Capacity Publications

(CT:PER-776; 07-27-2015)

(State/USAID)

(Applies to all Employees in the United States and Abroad)

- a. PA clears all official capacity publications by senior officials at the Assistant Secretary level and above, including Chiefs of Mission. All other employees must first submit the text to their immediate supervisors and any other offices concerned with the subject matter for preliminary review, editing, and approval. Once those preliminary approvals have been collected, the materials must be submitted to the

- Final Review Office (as described in 3 FAM 4174.3(a)), noting all such clearances. The Final Review Office will then make the final approval determination. For employees submitting a request to PA, such requests should be submitted via PAReviews@state.gov.
- b. As described in greater detail below in 3 FAM 4175.5, this process also applies to official social media postings and content prepared for placement in online forums such as blogs or Internet-based publications. However, per the guidance described in 3 FAM 4175.1(c), there may be instances where advance blanket authorization to engage is granted to individuals, offices, or sections who routinely communicate with the public on matters of Departmental concern, particularly through social media.

We just received this request and need more information. You indicate that it is a book being reprinted in paperback, but the submission is 1.5 pages of quotes.

Was Mr. [redacted] employed by the Department when the book was originally published? Was it the book originally approved by PA? What is this page of quotes?

B6

No, Mr. [redacted] was not employed by the Department when it was originally published so no, it was not originally approved by PA? In the interest of time, I sent the publisher's currently proposed catalog description for the book, as well as what will be used on their website and on the book's jacket or cover. I don't know that the author even has an e-version of the book, given it was published seven years ago.

Given that he is seeking remuneration, this request will have to be approved by L/Ethics, as well as EAP and PA.

It's the same remuneration he's been getting off the hard copies, but I understand.

Please provide the additional information, but please note that the request for a 10 am today approval is unlikely.

So should he just remove the disclaimer and reference to being employed by the Department altogether?

Thanks -

Dear Ms.

B6

We are following up on your request for a PA review of your blog.

Please provide answers to the following questions so we may begin the review.

Thank you

QUESTIONS TO ASK AUTHORS WHO WISH TO HAVE ARTICLES/MANUSCRIPTS PUBLISHED

- What is the author's first and last name, current job title and office symbol?
- Is the author writing in his/her private capacity or official capacity?
- Will the author receive remuneration outside of his/her Department of State salary for the article? Note L/Ethics will need to clear if you will receive remuneration.
- Does the author intend to use a disclaimer? If so, how will the disclaimer read?
- Who else has cleared (your supervisor, others within the Department of State)?
- Where does the author intend to submit the article/manuscript for publication?
- Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year?

Your article, Ahmed Chalabi and The First Law of Diplomacy, is still under the review of the Department. The personal capacity public communications review requirement is intended to serve three purposes: to determine whether the communication would disclose classified or other protected information without authorization; to allow the Department to prepare to handle any potential ramifications for its mission or employees that could result from the proposed public communication; or, in rare cases, to identify public communications that are highly likely to result in serious adverse consequences to the mission or efficiency of the Department.

3 FAM 4174.3 c (also states) To ensure that no classified information is improperly disclosed, an employee must not take any steps to proceed with a public communication (including making commitments to publishers or other parties) until he or she receives written notice to proceed from the Final Review Office, except as described below. If, upon expiration of the relevant timeframes below, the Final Review Office has not provided an employee with either a final response or an indication that a public communication involves equities of another U.S. Government entity (including a list of the entity or entities with equities), the employee may use, issue, or publish materials on matters of Departmental concern that have been submitted for review so long as such materials do not contain information described in 3 FAM 4176.2(a) and taking into account the principles in 4176.2(b). When an employee has been informed by the Final

Review Office that his or her public communication involves equities of another U.S. Government entity or entities, the employee should not proceed without written notice to proceed from the Final Review Office. Upon the employee's request, the Final Review Office will provide the employee with an update on the status of the review of his or her public communication, including, if applicable, the date(s) on which the Department submitted the employee's communication to another entity or entities for review. Ultimately, employees remain responsible for their personal capacity public communications whether or not such communications are on topics of Departmental concern:

Intended Public Communication*	Review Timeframe
Books, manuscripts, and other publications of considerable length	30 working days
Articles, papers, and other writings of a highly specialized nature	20 working days

In addition, you will need to include the standard disclaimer that is required for personal capacity communication (see 3 FAM 4176.1), that the views expressed in this article are those of the author and not necessarily those of the U.S. Government. We also request that you fill out the questionnaire below for our records.

QUESTIONS TO ASK AUTHORS WHO WISH TO HAVE ARTICLES/MANUSCRIPTS PUBLISHED

James! Hi there. Quick question for you. I'm finishing up an article for the ICOM publication "Museum International." It is about the USDC and our efforts to collect the opening with Cuba. Once Kathy has OK'd it, is this something that would go through the regular PA Clearance box, or what do you recommend? The hard part is that it needs to be to the publisher by Dec 31st... so I'm hoping it can get through the clearance machine in time..

I do hope you and Shauri are doing well, and looking forward to Christmas in the USA.

IO Colleagues,

For your review, attached is a 56-page article entitled "Global Emergency power in the Age of Ebola" written in private capacity by [redacted] an Attorney-Advisor in L/CID. We would appreciate hearing from you by Monday, November 2. L/OES and OES reviewed the article and recommended an IO review. Please see comments from OES/IHB Bob Sorenson for additional information below.

Under 3 FAM 4170, there are three circumstances in which an employee's personal capacity public communication may be prohibited:

1. If it contains classified information;
2. If it contains information not releasable under FOIA (e.g., protected employee information, law enforcement information, etc.);
3. If it is "highly likely to result in serious adverse consequences to the efficiency or mission of the Department."

If you believe the author's communication meets any of the above criteria, please provide a detailed explanation.

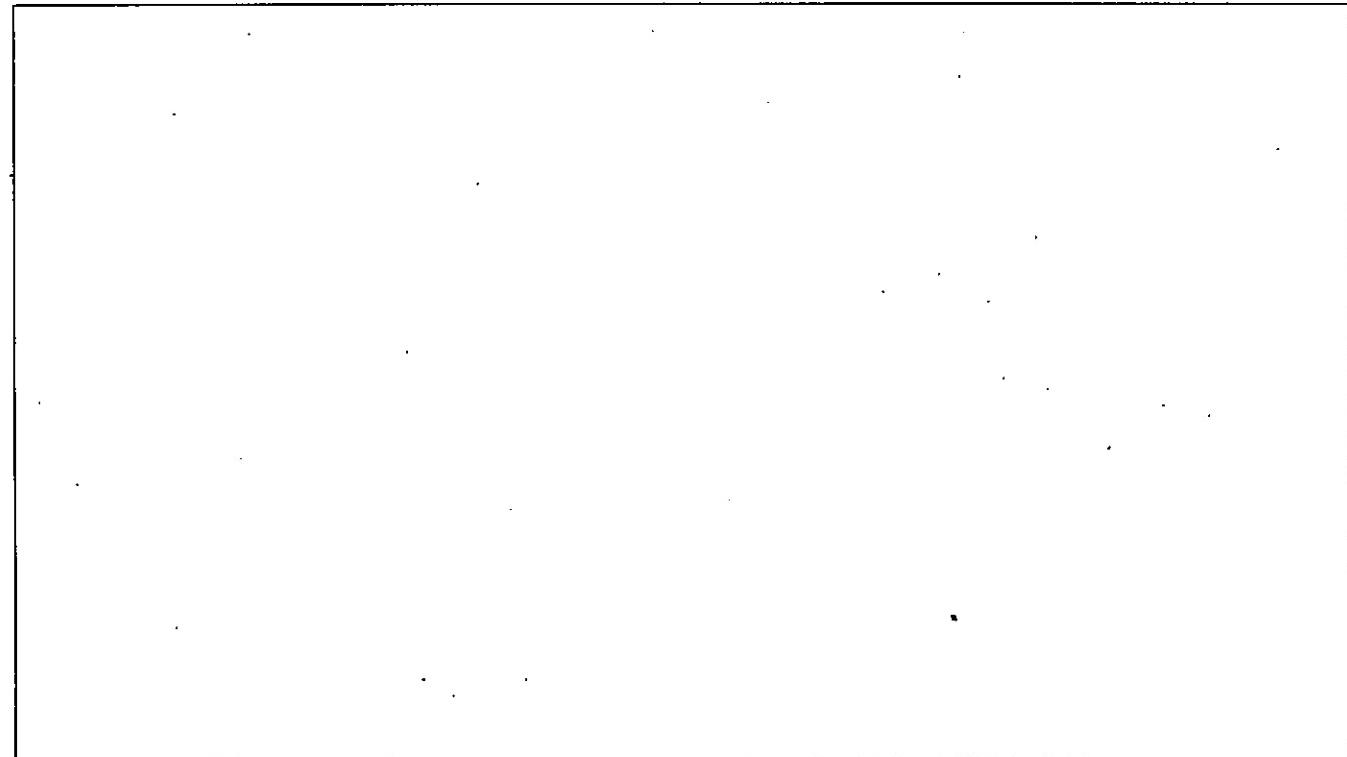

Thank you,

PA is charged with reviewing documents on subjects of official concern written by State Department employees in their private capacities. In doing so, we may consult with relevant bureaus.

Under 3 FAM 4170, there are three circumstances in which an employee's personal capacity public communication may be prohibited:

1. If it contains classified information;
2. If it contains information not releasable under FOIA (e.g., protected employee information, law enforcement information, etc.);
3. If it is "highly likely to result in serious adverse consequences to the efficiency or mission of the Department."

If you believe the author's communication meets any of the above criteria, please provide a detailed explanation.

Thank you,
PA Reviews

Subject: RE: [REDACTED] Manuscript for Clearance

Dear [REDACTED]

We received your e-mail and can open the article. Before we begin our review, please provide answers to the following questions (it's a requirement for everyone who submits articles to PA for review). Once we receive your answers, we will begin our review.

QUESTIONS TO ASK AUTHORS WHO WISH TO HAVE ARTICLES/MANUSCRIPTS PUBLISHED

- What is the author's first and last name, current job title and office symbol?

[REDACTED] currently in transition (since August 14) to full retirement from the State Department on 11/30/15. My title previous to 08/14/15 was Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for South and Central Asian Affairs.

- Is the author writing in his/her private capacity or official capacity?

Writing in private capacity.

- Will the author receive remuneration outside of his/her Department of State salary for the article? Note L/Ethics will need to clear if you will receive remuneration.

NOTE: The article will not be published until the first half of 2016 (projected), when I will be a private citizen. I will receive $2,000 for this article.

- Does the author intend to use a disclaimer? If so, how will the disclaimer read?

Glad to add a disclaimer, if required, but the article will be published when I am a private citizen. Please advise.

- Who else has cleared (your supervisor, others within the Department of State)?

No one has cleared because I am no longer in any official position, but the following have reviewed the text and commented: Ambassador (ret.) Laura Kennedy, Ambassador George Krol (Kazakhstan), Ambassador Allan Mustard (Turkmenistan).

- Where does the author intend to submit the article/manuscript for publication?

The Centre for International Governance Innovation (CIGI), Ottawa, Canada, commissioned the article. Former Canadian colleague, Ambassador Margaret Skok, now at CIGI, asked me to write the article.

- Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year?

I was SCA PDAS (see first question above) October 2013-August 2015. The article is an informed primer for non-experts based on my 22 years of experience working on and in Central Asia: PAO at Embassy Tashkent (1993-1995), Ambassador to Tajikistan (2003-2006), Charge d'affaires to Turkmenistan (2007), Ambassador to Kazakhstan (2008-2011). Any reference in the article (e.g., Kunduz, Afghanistan) comes from my broad reading of open-source material.

Sincerely,

PA Reviews

PA Colleagues:

I have attached an article for PA to clear for publication. Please confirm that you have received this email and can open the attachment.

BACKGROUND: I finished my assignment as SCA PDAS on August 14. I am now in transition and will formally retire from the State Department on November 30. The attached article for the Centre for International Governance Innovation (CIGI) in Ottawa, Canada, is due to the editors on NOV 15, but will not be published until the first quarter of 2016, when I will be a private citizen.

I have access to OpenNet via GO with an RSA token, but a number of functions are not available remotely – e.g., I cannot access the PA web site for clearances and the PA Help Desk gave me this email address from the GAL.

My daily, primary email address is [REDACTED]. It is important that you copy any replies to that address.

Again, please confirm that you have received this email and can open the attachment.

I'm grateful for your help and look forward to your clearance.

Regards,

This email is UNCLASSIFIED.

RELEASE IN PART
B6

Dear L and WHA Colleagues:

For your review, attached is a 15-page article entitled "Nottebohm Case (Liechtenstein v. Guatemala) International Court of Justice" written in private capacity by [redacted] an FSO in PRM/PIM.

B6

We would appreciate hearing from you by COB Thursday, October 22. Please see attached Mr. [redacted] responses to the standard questions for additional details.

QUESTIONS TO FOR AUTHORS WHO WISH TO HAVE MANUSCRIPTS PUBLISHED

- What is the author's first and last name, current job title and office symbol?
 - [redacted] FSO, PRM/PIM
- Is the author writing in his/her private capacity or official capacity?
 - Private
- Will the author receive remuneration outside of his/her Department of State salary for the article? Note L/Ethics will need to clear if you will receive remuneration.
 - No
- Does the author intend to use a disclaimer? If so, how will the disclaimer read?
 - Yes: The views expressed herein are the author's own and do not necessarily reflect those of the U.S. Government.
- Who else has cleared (your supervisor, others within the Department of State)?
 - No one.
- Where does the author intend to submit the article/manuscript for publication?
 - This is a chapter for an edited book project on Latin America and the International Court of Justice, organized by Professor Jean-Marc Sorel, from the École de Droit de la Sorbonne, Université Paris I, and Professor Paula Wojcikiewicz Almeida, from the Fundação Getúlio Vargas, Rio de Janeiro, to be published by Routledge in the UK..
- Does the paper relate in any way to the author's current duties or duties he/she had over the last year?
 - No - this is a review of a famous international law case from 1955 and related views on legal standards

PA is charged with reviewing documents on subjects of official concern written by State Department employees in their private capacities. In doing so, we may consult with relevant bureaus.

Under 3 FAM 4170, there are three circumstances in which an employee's personal capacity public communication may be prohibited:

1. If it contains classified information;
2. If it contains information not releasable under FOIA (e.g., protected employee information, law enforcement information, etc.);

3. If it is "highly likely to result in serious adverse consequences to the efficiency or mission of the Department."

If you believe the author's communication meets any of the above criteria, please provide a detailed explanation.

Thank you,
PA Reviews

For the clearance page, you should simply provide a list of everyone who has cleared the paper. Generally, the rule of thumb is any office/bureau that has an equity should clear.

Good Afternoon,

I work in the Bureau of Energy Resources where I manage a development assistance program on power sector issues. One of the implementers for our program is the Dept of Energy's Pacific Northwest National Lab (PNNL). They perform technical analysis in Central America under an interagency agreement. One of the projects that they completed and has been receiving a lot of traction is an analysis on transmission reinforcements in Central America. As a result, they wanted to share the methodology used for this work at an Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) conference so others can benefit from the work. The attached paper was drafted for submission to the conference. Stakeholders in Central America approved the sharing of the methodology. Given my role in designing this project and edits to this paper, PNNL has listed me as an author.

Please let me know if you clear on this paper being submitted to the IEEE with my name. There is no compensation for submitting this paper.

Thank you,
